

GRILL HALL 'SWEETIE'S' MATE

Mills Hazy About Mrs. Hall's Words, 'Met Same Fate'

outside of Mrs. Hall's home the night she was arrested.

Jimmie Mills, husband of the slain choir singer, was the next witness called by Simpson.

The little janitor of the New Brunswick public school tumbled down the aisle and nearly fell up on the stand.

Mills's eyes filled when Simpson asked him to identify a photograph of his slain wife.

Wife Good Church Member

He gave his wife's age as 33 at the time of her death.

Describing the little apartment on Carman Street, Mills said that he and his son, Danny, occupied one bedroom, while his wife and

Henry Stevens Mrs. Eleanor Mills

Charlotte, their daughter, slept in the other. He said he earned "anywhere from $32 to $38 a week."

His wife had been a good church member all her life, Mills related proudly.

"She was a soprano soloist in the choir," the little man testified.

"She occupied a seat in the church where Dr. Hall in his pulpit could look right down upon her."

Mills stated positively that Mrs. Minna Clarke, accused with Ralph Gorsline as a "love spy," had a key to the church.

"What did Mrs. Minna Clarke do in the church?" Simpson queried.

"She had charge of the altar vestments and the communion service."

"Did the key you had admit you to every part of the church?" asked Simpson.

"Yes."

Had Key to Dr. Hall's Study

"Even into the rector's study?"

"Yes."

Mills told how he had supported his wife and two children on $35 a week.

"Did you go to the church the day after your wife was killed?" Simpson asked.

"Yes," Mills replied.

"What did you see on the desk in the rector's study?"

"I saw a newspaper clipping."

Here Mills identified the clipping, quoting the Rev. Percy Stickney Grant on divorce, which Charlotte Mills said her mother had placed there the day of the murders.

"The night of the murder," Mills said, "I came home about 6.15 o'clock, had supper and went out on the back porch, where I began making window boxes. Mrs. Kelly, who lives downstairs, asked me what I was doing.

Waited Up for Wife

"My wife went out about 7.30. My son and daughter Charlotte came home while I was still working. They went upstairs and to bed.

"Until 11 o'clock I sat on the front steps waiting for my wife to come home. Then I walked to the drug store, had
